Sugar Grove—Among casualties of the severe hot spell have been 350 young chickens of a flock owned by Frank Coffaro and housed in a large converted barn, with 10,000 birds on three floors.

Mr. Coffaro called for aid of local volunteer firemen about 6:00 p. m. Monday, with water sprayed on the structure for several hours and fans put in operation to save the remainder of the flock.

For the second time within a few days, a part of the town was without electricity Tuesday evening, when another severe electric storm hit between 5:00 and 6:00 o'clock. Lightning struck the fire alarm tower, causing the alarm to sound at the height of the storm. No serious damage was reported.

The outing is expected to get under way about 1:00 p. m., and continue into the evening and participants are hopeful it will turn into an annual affair.

KIWANIS MEETING
There was a good attendance at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Warren Kiwanis club at the YWCA Wednesday noon. Chuck Merrioth, state forester for the Department of Forests and Waters was inducted as a new member. Dr. A. C. Schultze, of the First Methodist church, gave a very informative talk on Brazil, especially Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, mentioning the Methodist missionary work, the 100-foot statue on a mountain top, new large modern apartment building, orchids growing, and other historical facts about the interesting South American country, accompanied by beautiful colored slides.

Sugar Grove Band Leads Gala Parade Of Busti Firemen

The Busti Firemen's annual Gala Days, a four-day event, got underway Wednesday night with a parade of Boy and Girl Scouts, an innovation this year viewed by an admiring crowd of parents and friends.

Forming at the intersection of Mill street and Donelson Road, the units marched from south to the firemen's grounds south of the village, where prizes and special treats were distributed. The procession was led by the Sugar Grove Drum Corps.

The four-day event continues tonight with an amateur horse pulling contest scheduled for 7 p. m. at the firemen's grounds.

Friday night's attraction is the annual firemen's parade with a huge list of entries from the area. Saturday provides the highlight of the affair with the Old Fashioned Parade moving at 7 p. m. At noon that day the annual Busti Town Picnic will be held on the firemen's grounds, with those attending bringing their own picnic dinners. A tent and chairs will be provided by the firemen and coffee will be furnished by the Firemen's Auxiliary.

At 1 p. m. Saturday a sports program for children will be held, followed by a professional horse pulling contest at 1:30 p. m.

"Meals on Wheels" Now Great American Pastime

The American man has resorted to cave-man tactics—with a slight switch! He's the one doing the cooking by the outdoor fire—not the little woman! The reason—it's "Meals on Wheels" season again when the man of the house gets out the barbecue equipment for his annual gastronomic experiment with the groceries. Whether by car, to some favorite picnic spot, or in his own backyard, "Meals on Wheels" has become the great American pastime.

This interesting fact comes from Mr. W. J. Fitch, a resident of Olean, N. Y., and Manager for the Stroehmann Brothers Co.

He went on to say that although picnickers are more receptive to the country atmosphere, enthusiasm runs high among the city dwellers who enjoy the fun of outdoor picnics served on their terraces. Moreover, the general seasonal upswing in barbecue activities is a boon not only to manufacturers of outdoor equipment, but to the baker as well—for who ever heard of eating a platter of sizzling roast beef without a slice of bread for the gravy?

According to Mr. Fitch, Sunbeam Bakers have just launched one of the biggest bakery campaigns in food history, "Meals on Wheels"—to prove that the hamburger and frankfurter need the delicious bread roll to hit the spot. And, speaking of the frankfurter, experts predict that enough hot dogs will be sold this year to cover the earth fifteen times!

Warren Man Honored at Testimonial Dinner

Almost 100 persons were in attendance at the testimonial dinner in honor of William E. Lutz, Warren, president of the National Funeral Directors' Association, held last evening at the Woman's Club under the auspices of the Warren-McKean-Elk Funeral Directors Association which Mr. Lutz helped to organize over thirty years ago.

Emphasizing the esteem in which Mr. Lutz is held among members of the profession the guest list included delegations from most of the cities in the association which he sponsored as well as from many points in Pennsylvania including Allegheny county, Altoona and New York state.

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Donald E. Spencer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church where Mr. Lutz has been an active worker and regular attendant since coming here in the early 1920's. The toastmaster was LeRoy Schaeck. Music during the dinner and for the dancing later in the evening was furnished by George Johnson, his organ and orchestra.

Among the long list of dignitaries present that were introduced with their ladies by Lewis Price, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Funeral Directors Association were: Roy T. Merrill, Albion, N. Y., first vice president of the National Association; J. Leslie Laughlin, Altoona, president of the Pennsylvania Association; Daniel F. Lincoln, Jamestown, N. Y., secretary-treasurer of the National Association; W. J. Winter, Pittsburg; Mervin C. Stover, McKees Rocks; J. Allen VerMilyea, Warren, president of the Warren-McKean-Elk Counties F.D.A., and Henry C. Book, president of the Allegheny County Association.

Many of the distinguished visitors took advantage of the invitations to say a few complimentary words about the honored guest these included Mr. Merrill, Mr.

Laughlin, Edward J. Patrick of the Allegheny County Association and Mr. Price, all of whom lauded Mr. Lutz for his outstanding work in the state and national organizations, as well as a member of the Pennsylvania board of examiners.

In a modest and appreciative manner Mr. Lutz responded to the many felicitations extended him declaring "it has been a terrific experience x x x I would like to find words to say not express my feelings." He said the national association now numbers over 13,000 members. He concluded by saying "I have had a lot of fun, and hope to make still further contributions to the state and national organizations. I just want to say a plain thank you a million times."

A highlight of the program was along the pattern of "This is Your Life," with Mr. VerMilyea operating the slides and Mr. Schaeck as narrator which was much enjoyed by the assembled guests as well as Mr. Lutz, who was later presented by Mr. VerMilyea on behalf of the district association appropriate tackle for deep sea fishing.

The evening concluded with a social hour and dancing.

Wheat Quota Penalty for 1957 Crop Set at $1.12

The Marketing quota penalty on 1957-crop "excess" wheat has been set at $1.12 per bushel, N. E. Dodd, Chairman of the Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced. As the law directs, the penalty represents 45 per cent of the May 1 wheat parity price of $2.50 per bushel.

This means, according to the Chairman, that any farmer who harvests more than 15 acres of wheat and who did not comply with the wheat acreage allotment for his farm must pay a penalty of $1.12 for each bushel of the farm marketing excess.

Farmers who exceeded their allotments can adjust their wheat acreage up until June 21, and thus bring the acreage into compliance with the allotment. Those with excess wheat acreage after which date will not receive marketing cards until the penalty on the excess wheat has been paid or the excess wheat has been disposed of as instructed.

The wheat from farms with excess wheat acreage will not be eligible for price support.

Jaycee Mardi Gras Notes!

Mr. MG attended another meeting last night as the boys planning the parade really got down to brass tacks. Bill Hesch, in charge of Parade Orders, is running around in circles trying to group the many outstanding units into their proper divisions. Owens and Farnick, who have this parade right off the top of their hats, have so many aces up their sleeves that JAYCEES may well be sure that this will be the best parade ever. Entries continue to pour in, and marching and musical units are flocking at the last minute to join this "March in the Cool Evening."

Cochran's Majorettes, all girls and precision drillers will put on quite a show similar to the one Mr. MG remembers from several Cleveland Browns' half-time ceremonies.

monies. And another STELLAR, TOPNOTCH musical and marching unit will be announced soon, so watch this paper. It will be a unit well-known to everyone all over the county.

Noticed that the RODEO posters have gone up all over town and all over the county. Mr. MG is tired and thumb-sore from tacking but it should serve to remind all who haven't purchased their tickets that the time draws short. Get them at the Warren Drug Store in downtown Warren, or mail your orders to JAYCEES, Box 147, Warren, Pa.

Just for the KIDS, and wouldn't Mr. MG like to be one. Yes, that's the ticket for the morning of the 4th itself. The JAYCEES plan to hold the biggest field day in the history of kids' field days. Races, throwing contests, skill, chance, laughs, prizes, and so forth will make this a morning no kid will want to miss. Plan your schedule accordingly, kids. You'll want to be there.

Word from the Black Diamond RODEO advance man is that another attraction has been added to an already star-studded rodeo. In this event, called quietly a "Wild

Veteran Barber Ike Reed Is Planning To Lay Down Shears After 61 Years in Business

"IKE" REED

Isaac J. "Ike" Reed, an Indiana County native who came to Warren County in 1896, will complete 61 years as a barber this Saturday when he lays down his shears in the picturesque little shop at the corner of Hickory Street and Pennsylvania Avenue.

Asked what he was going to do now, the 86-year-old "Ike's" blue eyes sparkled behind his glasses as he replied: "I'm going to do as I please." Bert Smerker, "Ike's" partner in the shop since brother Harry A. retired in 1929 and went to Florida, will continue the shop. "Ike" was born in Cookport, Pa., about 16 miles west of Indiana. He came to Warren in 1896 and June 23rd of that year he started working with John Wilkins who had operated the barber shop on the first floor of the present basement address for several years.

When Wilkins died in 1898, "Ike" and brother Harry bought the business which "Ike" has maintained since.

As expected, the veteran of the tonorial art has worked through the many vicissitudes of the shop. He has seen it turn from the five-chair emporium it used to be during the days when everyone had a daily shave and his own mustache cup, to the two-chair basement shop of today.

At one time, "Ike" said, he had five barbers working for him, and the shop also included a massage machine and other frills. These days continued, "Ike" recalled, until Gilette came out with the safety razor about 40 years ago. "Men were given one every birthday and Christmas," said Ike, and business dwindled to haircuts only.

There was a brief resurgence during the 1920's when milady took her notions involving a bob in the hair. While that lasted, "Ike" said with a twinkle, I bobbed all the hair and let the others handle the men.

As might be expected, the veteran has cut hairs through dozens of three-generation families, many more four generation families and one five generations. This last is the family of Hugh Jamieson of Cobham Castle. "Ike" cut Hugh's grandfather's hair, father Marcus', and recalls as if it were yesterday the time Hugh himself was brought in to have his light curls removed from the back of his neck. Younger generations in the Jamieson family have also gone to visit Mr. Reed when in town.

One day, he said, I cut three generations at once. That was the "Chet" Kyler family.

"Ike" also recalls working on such famous heads as that of Col. Fred E. Windsor who flowing white mane and old grey mare were a landmark in this community a half century ago. "Ike" recalls, too, working over such old timers as Teddy Collins, the eccentric lumber tycoon, M. E. Dunham, Jerry Cray, "Cap" Lyons.

And this remarkable octogenarian is equally famous for his busmen's holidays as for his longevity in the barbershop. On his day off, "Ike" organized a hiking club and he led the members on 167 different trails over a period of several years without repeating once. He is also proud of the fact that none of his hikers ever had an accident.

And the man who has stood on his legs that long is also a familiar figure marching in the Fourth of July parades, having missed only one when a bum knee called for special attention on a wet, rainy day.

"Ike's" retirement plans call for helping the "Mrs.", the former Pearl Hickman from Oil City, who also came to Warren in 1896. The two met and married here and have three living children, Elizabeth (at home on 203 Crescent Park) who works at New Process Company; Bennett Reed who is an engineer with Erie Gas Company and Mrs. Florence Stevens on Oneida Avenue. Another daughter, Catherine Reed, died in February.

Actually, "Ike" goes into retirement at five p. m. this Saturday but will still cut a few more hairs. You can't get barbers anymore, says "Ike", because that is one business where you have to be in the shop all the time. Unlike other firms, the barber business won't wait for a man out of the shop.

So whenever partner Bert Smerker needs a cut, says "Ike", he'll call me up and over I'll go. And Bert, we imagine, will continue to cut "Ike's" white locks for a considerable time yet.

Cowboys and Girls Headed This Way!

No rodeo would be complete without the cowboys and girls who do trick and fancy riding. Those who take part in these events are real experts of the saddle and through long practice, added to natural gift for riding, they have developed tricks in riding which challenge the best efforts of circus riders. The horses are highly intelligent animals which have undergone a long training course. Each rider has developed skills of his or her own, which are rated not only on account of their difficulty, but because of the ease and grace with which they are performed. Bill Dyer, Jaycee and Mardi Gras ticket sale chairman, announces that tickets for the Black Diamond Rodeo and Wild West Show, etc., are like hot cakes. Ticket headquarters are at Warren Drug Store and reports indicate that tabs for the evening performances so far to have preference. Six full programs are scheduled and Carl Metzger states that Jaycees have been successful in obtaining additional tickets. Shows start at two p. m. and eight p. m., on the fourth, fifth and sixth of July.

THUMBNAIL PORTRAIT—Smaller than a man's thumbnail is this midget frog—some say it's a young toad—one of thousands that recently invaded a residential district of Shreveport, La. This one measures three-eighths of an inch long, a quarter of an inch wide. For days the army of tiny, brown creatures hopped down the street, along sidewalks and through front yards. Where they came from and where they were going, nobody knew.

SPORTS HEARINGS OPEN—A House judiciary subcommittee opened in Washington to decide whether professional sports should be subject to federal antitrust laws. Shown before the hearings, scheduled to last several weeks, began are, from left, Ford Frick, baseball commissioner; Will Harridge, president of the American League; Warren Giles, president of the National League; and Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the subcommittee.

SOCIAL ERROR—Gadzooks, what an embarrassing moment. Ol' Fuzzy, at the right, has arrived in the latest in sports clothes, a cashmere coverall, and everyone else is formal. It's so mortifying that Ol' Fuz can only hang his head and slink away. Actually, this photo from the London Zoo shows an adult penguin, at left, and a youngster still covered with his baby down.

CAN'T WIN — For the past five years crop damage from drought has been a headache for farmers around Perry, Kan., as it has been throughout much of the central farming area. Then the rains came—and came—and came. A cloudburst dumped three inches and the farmers have a new headache—crop damage from water.

PASSING UNDER THE BRIDGE—The carrier USS Kearsarge, her decks lined with sailors, passes beneath San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge. She is leading a long line of ships into the port for the first large-scale fleet review the city has had since 1938. It will be deluged with 15,000 sailors on leave.

Cologne Has Double Job as Sweet Cooler

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

MOST of us like to save our exotic perfumes for the cooler months and stick to the light fragrance of cologne during summer.

To get the most from the cologne you use, match it in scent to your dusting powder and soap. Probably you'll want a light floral blend. After your bath or shower, a dusting with the powder and the scent of icy cologne can help you to stay fresh for hours.

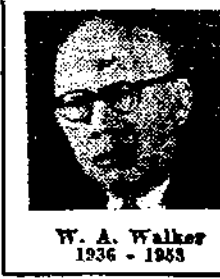

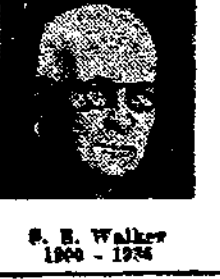

Make room in the refrigerator for your summer cologne and splash it on at wrists, elbows and neck for a cooling effect.

Use it at night, just before you go to sleep, too. Some women like to spray the bedroom with it. But even a dash of cold floral scent on your arms will be a help in sending you off to sleep on a hot night.

Hot weather cologne can make even a sticky day pleasant if you splash it on lavishly. This girl chooses a scent called summer spice and keeps the bottle in her refrigerator for added iciness.

A PROPER PENALTY

For reasons known perhaps best to the psychologists, the airlines have long been plagued with what they call the "no-show" problem.

The difficulty is created by people who either buy tickets or make reservations for a flight and then never appear. Sometimes the airline can sell the unused space at the last minute, but many flights depart with the line unfairly deprived of a chance to get its maximum revenue.

Evidently many people reserve a lot of flights at different hours and sometimes on different carriers, determined to use the one reservation most suitable to their plans as they develop.

Actually, this constitutes a kind of hoarding of space which is unfair both to the airlines and to other passengers who would like space but can't get it. Not everybody is willing to show up at an airport on the chance that he can get a seat left vacant by a "no-show".

The Civil Aeronautics Board now allows airlines to cancel reservations when they are not picked up in a specified time before departure. But this does not curb the ticketed passengers who fail to appear. So they are henceforth (as of Sept. 5) authorizing the lines to penalize any passenger $3 for failing to use his ticket and not notifying the carrier.

If that doesn't work, maybe the fine should be steeper.

WHY?

An editorial from The New York Times:

Spring is almost over—the summer solstice occurs Friday—but there is still time for a few vernal questions. There may be answers, and there may not, but the questions demand asking. For instance, there has been a scourge of cutworms this year. Why? What sensitive element in the uncertain balance of nature has been disturbed? Those who watch and count birds report fewer migratory warblers this year than usual. Again, why?

That leads to more difficult questions. There has been a good deal of aerial spraying for one type of predatory insect. How many birds have been victims of that spray? How many insects? What insects besides those at whom the spray was directed? Can it be that there is some connection between this and the minute parasites that keep the cutworms in check? And are we to have still other insect scourges as the season turns? If so, why?

The balance is always precarious, in a sense. Disturb one element and you invariably alter other elements. The bird-insect balance especially.

Why don't we know more about these things? Why, with what we do know, don't we take them into account? Since birds and insects, and even fish and insects, are so important in their interrelationships, why don't we have closer understanding between ornithologists and entomologists and ichthyologists?

Why, in brief, do we tinker with this sensitive balance without knowing exactly what we are doing? Maybe there is no ultimate answer, but the question demands asking. And the cutworms have been a scourge. Why?

SOAP BOX DERBY COMING UP

Among the many sensational events scheduled by the Jaycees for the Mid-Summer Mardi Gras is the second annual Soap Box Derby to be held on Central avenue Saturday, June 29th, under the auspices of the Jaycees, Times-Mirror and Dan's Chevrolet. Committees in charge are hard at work on this exciting contest which is expected to attract a record crowd. Since the public is cordially invited it behooves everyone to plan to be on hand early for most advantageous spots along the course. This means that scores of youngsters in the community are busily engaged at the present time polishing off their entries for the competition which will be held one week from Saturday.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

That the communication of thy faith may become effectual by the acknowledging of every good thing which is in you in Christ Jesus.—Philemon 1:6.

Here and There

Sixty-three years ago there was considerable of a discussion among citizens of the borough and Pleasant township (south side) about the wisdom of having constructed what would be a "toll free" bridge to replace the "Suspension bridge" that crossed the river just west of the present Veterans of Foreign Wars building. A sample of the sentiment the argument stirred up may be found in the following article which appeared in the Warren Evening Democrat of June 15, 1894:

"As it looks to an observer now, the Pleasant Bridge Company control the situation, and will not allow a free bridge unless their bridge is purchased. The question naturally arises, what is their bridge worth? Of course their bridge was an expensive one when built, but the cost of bridges has fallen to about forty per cent of what the cost was in 1871, and the new structures now built are relieved of the severe strain that falls upon suspension bridges, and are reported to be warranted for fifty years—a longer period than a suspension could last. At the remarkably low price that these new bridges are built, the material used is steel and the structure is expected to last a hundred years. Taking into consideration these points in regard to the different styles of bridges, and the fact that the suspension bridge will require steel towers in the place of the defective wooden ones, within a very short time, and the estimated cost of the towers alone is five thousand dollars, in place, what is the old bridge worth, and how long will it last if it is purchased? It was built twenty-three years ago. The best part of its life is gone. The whole structure depends upon cables, and they are no stronger than the weakest place in them. The cables go under ground and in stone work where there must be moisture, and moisture on iron will cause rust. The cables could not be expected to hold another ten years, and when they fall a new bridge would have to be built at as great an expense as a new bridge will now cause. Can we afford to buy the old bridge?"

If You're in Doubt, Don't Keep It Secret From Child

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

MRS. W. is working to help her husband pay for their home. Recently she asked her 10-year-old son to turn down the volume on the TV. He said, "Make me." She said, "Don't talk to me so fresh." He retorted, "Why shouldn't I? You're nothing but a cashier in a restaurant."

She writes, "I gave him a good licking. But it hasn't changed anything. He's still as fresh as he can be to me..."

He disapproves of you, Mrs. W.

Why does this trouble you? Why, when he gave you his low opinion of your job, did you shove it away so violently by spanking him? Do you yourself doubt its value? Do you have a sneaky feeling that you're cheating your children by working in this restaurant instead of at home?

I THINK so.

If we feel strong approval of a decision to work outside our home, we don't need children's approval. Attacked as you've been, we'd simply say, "When you want to tell me why you hate my job so much, let me know—and we'll try to straighten it out. In the meantime, please switch off the TV or turn down that volume."

But if we're struggling with secret doubt of our job's value, a child's disparagement of it is more than we can stand. We'll shove it away with blows or furious words.

We want the doubt left secret. We've made the hard decision to work as a restaurant cashier—and don't want to recede our own gnawing doubts of its wisdom.

IT'S terribly relieving to confess them to ourselves.

In your case, Mrs. W., it may be relieving to also confess them to your son. For example, you might say, "I've been thinking of how you despise my work. I'm not certain it's important myself. I want to help Daddy pay for this house—but staying at home with you may be much more important. Why do you think it is?"

It's silly to pose as a perfectly certain person to a child when we aren't. The pose gives us a don't-touch-me, unnatural stiffness that seals our real doubtful self away from him. It's this that makes him "fresh" and impudent. It's his demand for honesty between us.

Home Can Be Drudgery Or a 'Labor of Love'

I ONCE knew a young wife who got so much pleasure out of scrubbing, scouring, baking and ironing that I was prompted one day to comment on it.

After all, she wasn't a woman who couldn't do anything but keep house. She had written a novel in her spare time and had it accepted. She loved swimming and fishing and almost any other outdoor sport. She was never too busy to help her two young sons plant a garden, watch a pair of birds build a nest, or anything else they found exciting.

So how come she loved cooking and keeping a house clean and all the other odd jobs most women label pure drudgery?

She told me that she grew up in a mining town. That her father was killed in a mine disaster when she was only a child, making it necessary for her mother to work long hours in order to make a bare living.

There wasn't much of a home and during the day there wasn't any mother in it. Then and there she made up her mind that if she ever had a husband, a family and a home, it would be pure delight for her to be able to give them a happy home life.

"LABOR OF LOVE"

"AND so," she said, "I have always gotten a real thrill out of setting a room to rights, scrubbing a floor, baking a batch of cookies, putting a good meal on the table. It's wonderful to be able to give my children the kind of home my mother wasn't able to give me."

How few homemakers ever stop to realize that the jobs they do day after day aren't just an endless stream of drudgery. With every bed they make, every room they clean, every meal they put on the table they are actually giving their families happiness.

Full Skirt Is Soft This Year

The jacket dress and the summer print are important to the junior wardrobe this year. Sheath in blue silk-and-cotton mixture (left) has little jacket lined in polka-dot fabric. There's a polka-dot cummerbund, too. Toast sheath in rayon (center) has neat little buttoned jacket of raw silk in beige. The sheath is sleeveless, has a jewel neckline. Printed cotton with the shirtwaist look (right) is in mauve, has roll-up sleeve and is worn here over several petticoats. All of these Sue Brett designs are in junior sizes. The two cummerbund dresses also have self-belts which give them an entirely different look.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Junior fashions for summer show three important silhouettes: full-skirted, slim and supple.

The full skirt, propped by petticoats, is always a prime favorite with juniors for summer wear. It's cool, it looks pretty for an informal evening out and equally pretty for daytime wear.

BY GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor

The difference this year is that both skirt fabrics and petticoats are soft. The full skirt of some years ago, billowing over stiff petticoats, is out. The new petticoat may be made of a gentle fabric like batiste. Or, the dress itself may be lined with net. Shirtwaist dresses constitute a summer signature and while most of these have the full skirt, a few are slim and sophisticated. The slim silhouette is represented best by the sheath, either with or without its own jacket. Here, black is a favorite for city wear with an emphasis on pastels for the first part of the summer season with its warm weather.

The Chanel influence shows up in the supple silhouette.

A good example is the two-piece dress with pleated skirt that hangs straight. Here, the waistline is suggested rather than defined. It's a silhouette that's particularly good for the slim, youthful figure of any age.

Summer Fashions in U.S. Cotton

BY GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Elegant cotton fashions by America's best-known designers favor supima cotton this summer.

Supima is the American-grown, long-staple cotton that comes from three states in the southwest: Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. While it's a strong cotton, it also has superior luster and a silky hand.

It comes in many forms. Designers work with it in sheers, woven novelties, broadcloth, georgette, cotton surah, faille, voile, chiffon and organdy. They use it for informal afternoon dresses, dance dresses, short evening gowns.

We show it here as two top American designers see it for evening and daytime. The evening version (left), by William Fox, is in white organdy with wide, round neckline trimmed in black satin. Bell skirt also has the black satin, this time used in form of lattice work.

The informal afternoon dress, by Claire McCardell (right), is cotton georgette in green with soft bow top and a pleated skirt with double belt at the waistline.

Gathered From The Party Line

Fran and Becky Wooster, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wooster, 8 Plum street, have arrived at Echo Lake in the Poconos where they will spend the summer working at Hedy's Lakeview Resort.

Mrs. A. M. Langhans, 209 Market street, has left for Whittier, Calif., to be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Curtis Shanahan and family.

J. A. Johnson left today to spend the weekend in New York where he will visit the men's and boys' wear market and attend the eighth grade graduation of this granddaughter, Helen Ann McConnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cliff and daughters, Sandy and Debby, left Wednesday morning for their home in Rockford, Ill., after spending more than two weeks' vacation with her mother and sister, Mrs. Hulda Moore and Judy Moore.

Announcement is received from Episcopal Bishop William Critten-den, Erie, that the Rev. Chandran Devanar, professor at Madras Christian College in India, and Miss Madeline Berot, of the World Council of Churches staff in Geneva, Switzerland, will be among outstanding leaders this summer at Chestnut Hill, diocesan conference center on Lake Chautauque.

Persons familiar with the Chautauque Writers' Workshop will be interested in an announcement that its director-teacher, Robert Francis of Amherst, Mass., has received a Fellowship from the American Academy of Arts and Letters which provides a year's residence at the American Academy in Rome for writing and travel.

NEPHEW OF LOCAL COUPLE ORDAINED

Mr. and Mrs. John Trauffer and son, David, of Pennsylvania avenue, east, were in Niagara Falls, N. Y., last evening to attend the ordination at Zion Lutheran church of their nephew, Richard A. Swanson of Erie, into the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England. Approximately 750 persons attended the impressive rites honoring the 20 candidates, after which the honored elders were guests for a reception in the social rooms of the church.

Bingo for Charity Is Okayed by Masonic Unit

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—A national Masonic order has repealed a rule that prohibited its 226 grottoes from conducting raffles, bingo and other games of chance.

Grand Monarch Lee E. Tigh of Los Angeles said the action permits gambling "for worthwhile charitable and humanitarian projects."

He said gambling would be permitted only by authority of the Masonic grand master in each state and only when it does not conflict with federal, state and local law.

The action was taken by the Supreme Council of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, meeting here in national convention.

Dairy Referendum In Seven States Is Scheduled June 25

A ballot box referendum of dairy farmers in a seven state area will be conducted Tuesday, June 25, on the proposed New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing Order, it was announced today.

The proposed New York-New Jersey milk order was issued by the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington Monday. To become effective, it must be approved by at least two-thirds of all dairy farmers voting in the referendum.

Dr. C. J. Blanford, Market Administrator of the New York Metropolitan Milk Marketing Area, was named by the Department as referendum agent. He announced the June 25 date last week.

Dr. Blanford said polling places would be set up in 98 counties in Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont. They have been selected with the cooperation of the extension leaders of agricultural colleges in the seven states and county agricultural agents.

Warren County farmers will have the opportunity to vote in the referendum at either the Northern Area High School or the Bear Lake Fire Hall, according to Bernard Wingert, assistant county agent.

Only producers shipping to the plants at Bear Lake, Sugar Grove Akeley, or Centerville, will be involved in the referendum. Approximately 150 dairy farmers will be voting in Warren county. New York farmers are eligible to vote at the polling places in Warren County and Pennsylvania producers may likewise vote in New York if they wish. Polling places will be at Frewsburg and Mayville in Chautauque County.

Street Lights Going Up in Chandelers Valley

Pennsylvania Electric Company crews began installing the most modern type of reflector street lights in Chandelers Valley yesterday. Del Henry, Penelec commercial sales manager, said the job would be completed in about a week if certain cables arrive as expected.

Thirteen 250-candle power lights of the type used in North Warren and other small communities will be erected, eight along the highway and five on the cross street running up to the church.

The Chandelers Valley street lighting program is the latest underway in the county where Ludlow completed installation of 40 lights the first of the year. Tiona had eight installed in March and West Hickory just completed erecting 13. North Warren has plans for future installation of additional lights in front of Midtown Motors, and a few more scattered on Victor, Timothy and Main Extension, according to Mr. Henry.

Is Pittsburgh Bride

Linda Ralston Shoop, 60 Church-ill road, Pittsburgh, 35, the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Munroe, became the bride of Wallace Frank Briggs, of Russell, in a double ring ceremony performed June 15 at Edgewood Country Club by Dr. Roy E. Manne.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Donald Munroe, was lovely in a princess style gown of ivory peau de sois with chantilly lace appliques, full skirt and chapel train. Her fingertip silk illusion fell fell from a headpiece trimmed with seed pearl orange blossoms and she carried white roses with stephanotis, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Frederick E. Smalstig, matron of honor, was in Nile green organza with white lace, princess style. Her headpiece was a pale pink rosebud circlet, and she carried a bouquet of pale pink roses.

Best man was Robert Swann. Following a reception at the Edgewood Country Club, the couple left for a wedding trip to Bermuda, to reside in New Castle upon their return. Mr. and Mrs. Briggs are both graduates of Allegheny College.

Record Attendance for Harmony Night Expected

One of the largest audiences of Chautauqua's summer season is anticipated on Saturday evening, July 6, when the third annual Barbershop Harmony Night will be presented by SPEBSQSA's Seneca Lands District. Last year, more than 8,000 persons jammed the amphitheatre, and the growing popularity of the event is expected to increase that number this year.

Featured quartets will include the famous Buffalo Bills, the O-At-Kans of Warsaw, N. Y., the Quaintones of Buffalo, and the Note Crackers of Rochester. Championship choirs will be performing, the current district leaders, Canandaigua, and the Warren Chorus, past district champions and Seneca Land District's representative at the International Contest in Los Angeles.

District members are contributing a scholarship for a student in Chautauqua's School of Music, to be selected through auditions the weekend of June 27 at Chautauqua, under the direction of J. H. Huen, director of the School of Music, Lee, D. C.

Fashions From a City of Cottons

NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In the sprawling river city of St. Louis, fashion is young.

St. Louis designers create clothes chiefly for juniors and, perhaps because St. Louis is called the gateway to the South, they place special emphasis on cotton fashions.

They do them many ways: with the bouffant skirt and with the skirt that's slim and narrow. This year, they do them in pastels and white.

But for travel, St. Louis designers point up the pretty practicality of bright plaids, checks and stripes. Many of these are done in a happy combination of black and white.

St. Louis is a city that turns willingly humid in the summer. That's part of the reason for the many bare-arm fashions its designers show. It's the reason, too, for light, cool and frosty fabrics. We show (left) a travel cotton by Carley in black and white. It's a one-piece dress with a two-piece look. The skirt fabric is repeated in vertical bands on the tucked white broadcloth top.

A pastel cotton by Carole King (right) has fitted bodice and full skirt done with Schiffl embroidery. Top, which has rose trim, is plain.

Vacation Bible School For Calvary Baptists

Definite plans were made by the Christian Education Committee of Calvary Baptist church this week for Daily Vacation Bible School to be held August 19-23 from 6.45 to 8.15 each evening. In addition to the usual children's classes, a class will be held for intermediates, taught by Pastor Obinger; one for Young People, taught by Rev. H. L. Cartwright; a class for adults, taught by associate pastor, Richard Reed. The Young People's and adult classes will qualify for teacher-training certificates.

Pastor and Mrs. Obinger, and family, are en route to Portland, Ore., to attend Baptist General Conference sessions at Temple Baptist church in that city and to visit relatives in the west. Church vice chairman, Clarence O. Swanson, and family, are likewise attending the Portland Conference as delegates from the local church.

Richard Reed, associate pastor for the summer months, "was in charge of Sunday morning services and presented Fred Healy, guest speaker, at the evening service. As a special token to all fathers attending Sunday school or church, a red rose was pinned on each by Mrs. Carl Elmquist, Sunday School superintendent.

During adult assembly, two beginners, Pamela Holmberg and Karen Foreman sang two songs in honor of "Daddy", accompanied by Murray Foreman on the piano. Terry Honhart gave a reading entitled "In Church With Dad".

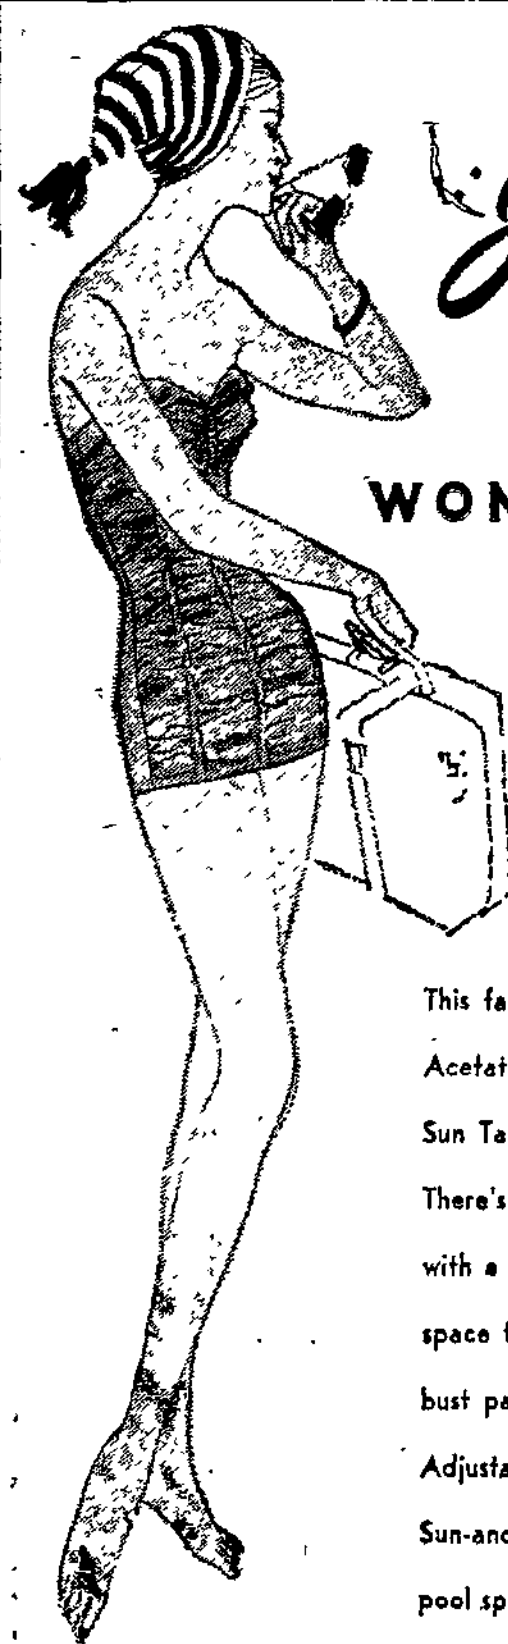

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

WITH an unmarried woman of middle age in the group a wife described another woman as being "an old maid." It wasn't kind to the absent one described. And it was downright rude from the point of view of the unmarried woman.

Probably she thought, "I suppose that is how she refers to me when I'm not around."

NEW "JOURNEY FOR MARGARET"—Margaret O'Brien, the onetime child star who won the hearts of movie audiences in "Journey for Margaret," way back when, is now 19 and plays "grown-up" parts. But that's thanks to the stage and TV—not to the movies. Hollywood just wouldn't let Margaret grow up. It tried to keep her a little girl—such as she was in "Meet Me in St. Louis," left. At right, she's being made up for a recent TV role, "Moonlight" in "Smiling Through." Her latest grown-up part this fall will be as the star of "Maggie," a new ABC-TV series.

Assemblyman Reporting

Newsletter for the Warren Times-Mirror prepared by Assemblyman Allen M. Gibson, assistant floor leader, House of Representatives

I wrote a newsletter last week but didn't send it because the picture in Harrisburg was changing every day, so I decided to wait until the picture became clearer before making a report to you.

A week ago there were all kinds of gloomy estimates and predictions that the Legislature wouldn't be able to wind up its work until July 15. Governor Leader had ordered a sit-down strike by Democrat House members on the appropriations bills requiring a two-thirds majority vote, and it looked as if the so-called "Battle of the Budget" could remain deadlocked for a long time.

But the pressure for adjournment by June 15, or soon after that, was as strong among Democrats as Republicans, and a number of Assemblymen had made plans for vacation trips based on the Senate resolution that we adjourn June 15, so the sit-down strike lasted only about a week.

We Republicans had to make a concession before the Democrats blast at the Philadelphia Democrats, a deputation of three Philadelphia Democrats called on the Speaker of the House, Stuart Helm, with a compromise proposal. This was shortly after noon. I might mention that the three gentlemen from Philadelphia, Messrs. Amarando, Toll and Schwartz, are Dilworth Democrats, not Leader Democrats. Apparently the Governor knew nothing about the compromise we worked out until it was all over. (The Governor is on the outs with most of the Democratic party chiefs.)

Then came a rapid series of conferences in which the following took part: The Republican State Chairman; Senator Joseph Barr, the Democratic State Chairman; Harvey Taylor, President Pro Tempore of the Senate; the Speaker of the House, the Majority leader and myself; and the three gentlemen from Philadelphia.

We agreed to appropriate an additional two million dollars for mental health purposes in Philadelphia, to be used in any way they see fit, except two: the money is not to be used directly by Philadelphia General Hospital, except for their mental health out-patient clinic, which is operated under contract; nor is the money to be used by county health agencies. There are four possible institutions or agencies in Philadelphia for which the additional money may be used.

After ironing out the details of our agreement with party leaders in both Houses, we called Mayor Dilworth in Philadelphia and got his okay. Then I went up to the Hall of the House and told Mr. Johnson we could roll the appropriation bills. Everyone felt much relieved, and I believe that included all the Democrats.

These last couple of weeks have been rough, with fourteen-hour sessions being held three times, that is from ten in the morning until midnight, and some of us old gentlemen get a little weary.

I realize it is a popular indoor and outdoor sport to beat the Legislature over the head for what it does or doesn't do, but I can say this: we have done a tremendous amount of work at this session of the Legislature.

Seventeen hundred and twenty-one bills were introduced into the House, all of which were studied by committees, rejected, amended, introduced, passed, signed or vetoed.

This has been a good session of the Legislature, and we have passed some worthwhile bills. Most of them didn't get much or any space in the papers, but they are good bills nonetheless.

Plan Launched To Form Order of Vets Of World War No. 1

Plans have been launched to organize in Warren a barracks of the Veterans of World War I, which is a national organization, and has over 1,000 W. W. I. barracks in the U. S. A., of which 33 are located in this state, Allentown, Beaver Falls, Bethlehem, Bradock, Bradford, Chambersburg, Charleroi, Easton, Erie, Greensburg, Harrisburg, Homestead, McKeesport, Monaco, Montrose, Mt. Pleasant, Philadelphia, S. Pittsburg, 5, Reading, Scottsdale, Shamokin, Uniontown, Valley Forge, Washington, Waynesburg, Williamsport, and York.

Representatives of the organization were in Warren Tuesday, and it is expected an early announcement will be made as to who will head up a barracks in this city. Department Chief of the order is Staff Floyd L. E. Barnhart, who was also a visitor, said "We have high hopes that the W. W. I. Buddies of Warren will unite with the organization and form a local barracks."

The main purpose of the organization is to "coordinate Veterans of World War I into an organization for their mutual benefit, pleasure and amusement, giving them the opportunity and means of personal contact with each other in order to keep alive friendships and memories of World War I."

The organization also strives to work along with other vets' organizations to work for the best interests of all veterans, widows and the children of deceased veterans, to maintain national security in order to protect Americans from enemies within our borders, as well as those from without, to the end that our American way of life be preserved. They work to secure for veterans of World War I the same policy of treatment by our government, both federal and state, to work for obtaining for veterans of World War I the benefits, privileges and preference which they, through patriotic service and sacrifice to their country in its time of need, have earned and to which they are justly entitled.

They'll strive for pensions in adequate amounts for all vets of WWI when such veterans attain their 60th birthday, as well as the widows and orphans of such deceased vets, and without the necessity of subscribing to an income limitation. They work also, for hospitalization, and out-patient treatment for all vets of WWI with nonservice-connected disabilities, without the necessity of subscribing to the so-called "pauper's oath," and without regard to income limitations.

The program of the organization is clearly outlined and is solely a World War I Veterans organization. Pamphlets on the program can be obtained from Department Deputy of Staff Potter of Bradford who is available to aid the local organization.

Interesting Reports Are Made At Annual Red Cross Meeting On Work of Volunteer Service

Outstanding among annual reports presented at the 1957 membership meeting of Warren County Red Cross Chapter were those of the various groups which constitute the division known as Volunteer Services.

Speaking for these units, the chairman, Mrs. R. W. Steber, read the report of Mrs. Paul J. Harrington for the Gray Ladies, showing 75 active workers have given 4,678 hours of service at Warren General Hospital and 336 hours to the Blood Program. There is an increasing demand for this work, she reminded, and more volunteers are always needed.

Canteen Workers, who manage food for donors and volunteer workers at Blood Banks, reported 33 individuals and 252 hours; Staff Aid Corps members numbering 21 gave 162½ hours; five Motor Corps drivers worked 67 hours; 28 registered nurses on call worked 215 hours.

The Nurse Aide Corps report was given by Mrs. Harold Baker and showed 13 persons working 553½ hours at Warren General Hospital and another six giving 272 hours of service at Blood Banks. She outlined, also, changes in this training program and mentioned prospects for a new class soon.

Totaling, it was found 228 such volunteers have given an approximate 6,506 hours of service, or the equivalent of 812 eight-hour days. To this must be added hours worked and not recorded, since individuals feel it "is not important".

Certainly, the hospital and the community should echo the sentiments of Retiring Chairman Ralph Sines, who termed this work "inspiring" and the source of real pride in accomplishment.

Continuing, Mrs. T. L. Armstrong spoke of Camp and Hospital Services, giving credit to all who have helped provide necessities and little extras for those in the veterans' hospitals. These included those who have given of their time, finances, and actual gifts.

First Aid Chairman Eugene Brown mentioned lack of instructors available for training rural classes and stated it is hoped to have an advanced class soon, these members to be eligible for the specialized instructor training. His outline of classes completed and certificates awarded included two Civil Defense rescue groups, North Warren firemen and juniors at Youngsville.

Another phase of specialized training was contained in Paul Steinkamp's report of Life Saving and Water Safety activity. His three classes completed included one for handicapped children. He spoke of his trip to Zem Zem Hospital and experience gained in its pool and therapy programs and mentioned this program, also, is in need of more instructors.

Ed Slick reported for the Disaster Relief Committee, which has been completely revised and has as co-chairman Ned Spangler. He mentioned, particularly, experience gained through local floods and fires; and cooperation with Civil Defense in future planning.

Considerable time was devoted to Howard Lauffenberger's report for the Blood Program, with the specific items that Buffalo Bloodmobile made 15 visits to the borough and county in the year just ended, with 2,045 donors giving 1,862 pints of blood; Warren General and Warren State Hospital using 1,416 pints of this total.

Miss Irma Eba, reporting for Junior Red Cross, showed 1957 memberships amounting to $367.14 with $50 sent to the Overseas Children's Fund and 200 gift boxes packed for children's distribution overseas.

Mrs. E. M. Bell, in her Home Service report, showed assistance given to 824 individuals and a total of $1,793.13 allotted to these activities.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York (AP)—The men who like to help the women with their laundry chores look for a pickup in sales of washers and dryers this fall.

They base this hope on a recent increase in orders by distributors, doubly welcome after discouraging results in the first four months of the year.

And the appliance makers hope that a fairly widespread rise in prices for the fall lines won't wither the seedling of revival.

The makers also are counting on new versions of the washer-dryer combination to overcome some of the troubles housewives have had in washing garments made of many kinds of fibers.

Fred Maytag II, president of the Maytag Co. of Newton, Iowa, reports that, strangely, much of the pickup in orders he has noted in the last three weeks has been for the old fashioned wringer type of washer — although this machine has been taking an increasingly smaller share of the market in recent years.

He admits that sales of dryers may be slow this summer. But he thinks the rebound in the fall will be sharp because "the return of bad weather always makes the housewife think of buying a dryer."

The industry's bad start this year came on the heels of its biggest production year. In 1956 the home laundry business was booming. And many of its products were sold on time. Spokesmen admit now they probably over produced.

Dealers complained that big stocks at the end of last year led to price cutting which trimmed profit margins to the vanishing point.

There have been casualties in the industry since the war and the number of firms making home laundry equipment now is down to around 25. There have also been sales and mergers. Avco Manufacturing sold its Bendix line to Philco. A three-way merger brought out Whirlpool Corp. as the survivor.

This year dealers and distributors have been reported living in large part on inventories. Manufacturers figure this phase is about over—hence the pickup in orders.

But in the first quarter of the year the American Home Laundry Manufacturers Assn. reported sales of washers slid 22 percent below those of the same period in 1956, dryer sales were down 20 percent and ironer sales down 20 percent.

Faced with slipping sales, some of the makers nevertheless are raising prices.

Westinghouse Electric says some models to be introduced in the fall will be 8 per cent higher. General Electric's fall line will be up by 4 to 7 per cent.

Roast Beef Is One of the Top Items On Menu For This Week

By The Associated Press
Roast beef will be served at the dinner table—or barbecue grill—of many American families this week-end, judging by the weekly "specials" planned by the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores.

Chuck roast and other lower priced cuts of beef often are the big items in beef promotions, but chuck is soft-pedaled this week in favor of round steaks, sirloin steaks and porterhouse steaks. It could be that the supermarkets meat men are aiming their wares at the growing numbers of barbecue and "cook out" fans during the hot weather.

Chickens, normally a hot weather special, are not so popular this week, possible because prices for fryers are up around 2 cents a pound in some areas. Pork, on the other hand, also is listed in comparatively few places, despite the fact pork prices are off from 2 to 11 cents in scattered localities.

Eggs, too, are from 2 to 4 cents a dozen more expensive this week,

Meeting Held By Association For Retarded Children

The recently-organized Parents Association for Retarded Children held its meeting Tuesday evening at the YMCA, with the Rev. Frank Kehrl, assistant pastor of First Presbyterian church, giving the invocation and the president, Mrs. Clifford Bollinger, introducing the guest speaker, Nelson A. Johnson.

Head of the psychiatric social service department at Warren State Hospital, Mr. Johnson spoke on the topic "Social Aspects of Retardation".

He advised parents to seek competent professional diagnosis and counsel; and to accept children for what ability they have and work to develop this ability to the utmost. Mr. Johnson stated "the exceptional child will never be a burden or source of unhappiness in a home if parents accept the problem and face it with common sense".

The speaker listed a number of sources which could be of great service to parents, stressing the fact that too little effort has been put into systematic ways and means for finding help. He told the group he is strongly in favor of the parents' organization and feels it is a way in which they may get much-needed help.

Plans were also completed at this gathering for a family picnic to be held Sunday, June 23, from 2:00 to 6:00 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer on Hatch Run road. All members are to bring a tureen and table service and may call 5835-J-11 for further information.

Judge Decrees Mortgage Paid; Loan Co. Defunct

In court this morning, Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., granted satisfaction in the case of Herbert L. and Betty J. Dickerson, 3 Locust street, against Helping Hand Building and Loan Association for a mortgage on their property filed Feb. 25, 1955.

The Dickersons advertised for Loan Association representatives to come forward and claim their $150 but none did and apparently none exist. So Judge Flick decreed that the mortgage be considered paid and ordered records to be shown.

In other court action this morning, legal arguments were heard in the case of Charles Barr versus Elmer Wester. The judge ordered that briefs be filed by July 20th.

A third case brought by Myer Berenfeld against Arnold N. Crossley will be continued after some more investigation. Berenfeld had some of Crossley's property attached and the defendant claims Mrs. Crossley is part owner of some, and full owner of other of the attached property.

HUGH LAUFFER
Two important department head changes, necessitated by expanding service and parts business, were announced today by General Manager John B. O'Hara, of Fernow Pontiac-Cadillac, Inc. Hugh Lauffer has been promoted to service manager, and Jack L. Schott has been raised to parts and accessories.

Mr. Lauffer brings to the service department a sound mechanical background, earned in the Air Force and in General Motors training schools. He was in the Air Force for four and one half years, as a flying mechanic, and flight engineer. He has graduated from numerous schools at the General Motors Training Institute, including hydraulic schools, carburetor and ignition schools, brake and differential schools, and electrical schools. His responsibilities will include training the mechanical force in the shop, as well as customer service work.

Mr. Schott has been with the organization for eighteen months, and has supervised both the parts and service department. The increased volume of work necessitates a larger parts inventory, and requires a full-time merchandising manager. Mr. Schott has been trained for this position by General Motors, and will have full charge of buying and merchandising parts and accessories.

Important Comment on Further Curtailment of Postal Service And Affects in Warren Boro

In answer to the many inquiries being made of local officials and employees as to the possibility and effect of further curtailment of postal service, Postmaster Knabshue submits the following comment:

President Eisenhower has asked Congress for $149.5 million in extra needed funds to give accelerated mail service for the year starting July 1st. Unless this money is voted by Congress by July 1st the postal service, by law, must be curtailed everywhere, Warren included, to hold operating costs within the limits of available funds.

Public members of the Advisory Board of the Post Office Department, greatly concerned about possible drastic curtailment of mail service, wrote the President on May 27th, 1957, emphasizing that "Costs can only be further reduced by such drastic actions as:

"(1) Reducing the number of days per week in which mail delivery and other postal service is given;

"(2) Closing thousands of small post offices;

"(3) Arbitrarily reducing the volume, and possibly types, of mail handled.

It would also mean, of course, that plans which have been under study for some time to give the downtown business section TWO deliveries daily would have to be dropped. Also planned extensions of carrier routes to give service to many in outlying sections who should be entitled to such service, would be indefinitely postponed. Then too, the already reduced hours of window service would have to be cut still more and, in addition, certain window services combined with others to reduce man-power requirements. Hal Boyle's Column

New York (AP) — Sidewalk scrawls by a Pavement Plato: Looking into the future is one of mankind's oldest games.

This pleasant age-old pastime has an awesome quality today, however. For peering into the future is no longer mere guesswork as it was in the past, when most of the seers were obvious quacks or parlor entertainers.

The forecasters today are generally scientists, and presumably their pictures of the future are painted with facts rather than conjectures.

Not long ago Dr. W. R. G. Baker, a vice president of General Electric, prophesied that 50 years from now we would be confronted by such marvels as electronic automobiles, automatically controlled airplane traffic and "telephone television," which would allow people conducting a telephone conversation to see as well as hear each other.

This last-named mechanical marvel, a dubious blessing if ever we heard of one, has already reached a practicable stage. But, except for people calling long distance on Mother's Day, who really yearns to see the other over the telephone? Only teen-agers.

In his predictions Dr. Baker speculated that in the closing years of this century man's long hunger for material well-being may well be tempered by an increasing concern for spiritual satisfaction.

Unfortunately, of this there is no guarantee. Barring an atomic world war in which the entire human race might be offered up on a hydrogen-heated blueplate as a sacrifice to the gods of battle, it is certain that science will develop new gadgets to make our life more efficient, hurried and insecure. But there is no certainty that it will make our way of life happier or satisfying.

The prospect is that the brave new toys of the future will make us more dependent upon each other, not more self-reliant as individuals. We may not be our brother's keeper, but each of us will surely be one another's crutch. And the question of whether the machine serves man or man has become the slave of the machine will grow more pressing.

The mechanisms that spring from man's agile mind multiply with the speeding years to bring him more and more creature comforts. But the mechanism of man's heart remains largely untouched and unimproved.

The man of the future may well dwell in a plastic home heated by solar energy and surrounded by plastic grass that never needs to be cut by a lawnmower. But unless he himself can be power-tooled out of plastic, how well will he fit in this plastic world a-coming?

We live already in an homogenized world in which our clothing is half-synthetic—and our pleasures even more so.

The undone task of science is to find, not vaster formulas to improve the world outside the heart but techniques to improve the world inside the heart. When will science come up with a foolproof human being?

Until it does the great danger of the future, as it has always been in the past and is in the present, will be that man, pursuing his old dreams, will be destroyed by his equally ancient nightmares.

Redbirds Move In On Braves With Sweep Over the Pirates

By The Associated Press
Okay, so the St. Louis Cardinals look great, just half a game out of the National League lead. But you've got to split the credits between a long streak and a short memory.
They hustled to 20 victories in the last 27 games, winning 13 of the last 16, and jumped from sixth, 8½ games behind, to within seven percentage points of the first-place Milwaukee Braves. Trouble is, they were only three points out of the lead at this stake a year ago—then went into a late-June swoon that dumped them out of the race for a fourth-place finish, 17 games behind.
The Redbirds moved in on the Braves last night, sweeping Pittsburgh 5-2 and 5-1 in a two-night double-header as Milwaukee's Bob Buhl cut the Braves' skid at three games with his third consecutive four-hitter in a 6-0 victory over the New York Giants.
Cincinnati ended its four-game slump, coming from behind on home runs to beat Brooklyn 4-3, leaving the Redlegs and Dodgers two games behind with the Brooks in third place by two percentage points. Philadelphia slipped to fifth, 2½ behind, with a twin loss at Chicago 9-0 and 4-3.

In the American League, Chicago's White Sox held on to a 2½-game lead with a 3-1 decision at Baltimore after the second-place New York Yankee had upped their winning streak to six games with a 10-2 breeze against Detroit. Third-place Cleveland lost 6-0 at Boston. Kansas City joined Baltimore in sixth place, rallying in the ninth to defeat Washington 6-3.
Two walks and RBI singles by Jim Rivera and Bubba Phillips produced two second-inning runs for the White Sox, who were out-hit 9-6. Bob Keegan won it. Art Coccarelli was the loser.
The Yankees went on a 15-hit tear against seven-game winner Duke Maas and two Tiger relievers with Yogi Berra hitting a three-run homer and Gil McDou-

Lightweight Champ Brown Put Zulueta Away in Last Round

By FRANK PITMAN
Denver (AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown, winner by a 15th-round technical knockout over Orlando Zulueta, shopped around today for pork chops and some overweight matches to cash in on his title.
Brown, living up to his nickname of "Joey" Joe, knocked the bobbing Cuban to the canvas in the 15th round for a nine count and finished him off with a flurry of rights a scant 21 seconds before the end of the nationally televised title fight last night.
Referee Ray Keach was roundly booed by the crowd of 3,686 in the Denver Coliseum for stopping the bout. Zulueta got up at the count of eight after his second knockdown.
"I asked Zulueta if he was all right when he got up," Keach said. "He only mumbled. His eyes were glassy and I thought there was no use in taking a chance that he might be seriously injured."
"That was the loudest decision I ever say in my life," wailed Zulueta's manager, Hymie Wallman. "I felt fine," said the downcast 28-year-old challenger in his dressing room. "My head was clear. I wasn't a bit dizzy."
The three officials had Brown ahead on points when the fight was stopped. Keach scored it 68-61, Judge Don Perko 67-60 and Judge Joe Ullmer 66-65. The AP had Brown in front 60-53.
Zulueta, who weighed 133½, said it was the first time he'd been knocked off his feet in 101 fights.
Brown, 134 1-4, said he caught Zulueta with a left uppercut in the 15th and nailed him with a combination of right hands to the head and body in the 15th.

and an Oriole rally appeared in the making. But Miranda made the mistake of running a few feet past second base and was thrown out by rightfielder Jim Rivera.
Bill Gardner smacked another single to right, but not only did

Rivera's quick return limit Lehman to second, it almost picked him off too.
The next two Orioles fied out while the runners stuck to the bags.
The lack of over-all White Sox hitting finds only Nellie Fox over 300—by 29 points.

Independent Promoters Help Keep Patterson in Chips

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It was only a few days ago that Floyd Patterson was wondering just what he was going to do for gainful employment when he ran fresh out of Hurricane Tommy Jackson, whom he will attempt to further wreck in 15 rounds at the Polo Grounds on July 29.

Then out of the Texas oil fields bounced Roy Harris, a story-book challenger with a smashing victory over third-ranked Willie Pastrano.

The telephone rang in Cus D'Amato's new Broadway office and it was Tommy Moyer, the young Portland, Ore., promoter, offering Patterson $400,000 to tackle Pat McMurry, the handsome ex-Marine who has been nursed along in the Pacific northwest for some time.

A MATCH BETWEEN PASTRANO and Ingemar Johansson in Sweden is in the making, which easily could set up an international engagement for Patterson.

There is a prospective new Luis Angel Firpo coming along in young Alex Miteff, who climaxed a 100-bout amateur career winning the championship in the Pan-American Games in Mexico City two years ago.

Older students of the sour science liked the way this burly converted southpaw juggled the trouble to the more experienced Willi Besmanoff, especially with a left hook to the body. This was at the ancient St. Nicholas Arena in New York the other night.

THEN, OF COURSE, there is the oncoming Eddie Machen as an opponent for Patterson. Harold Carter will be out of the Army in a year or so. Among other prospects are Amos Lincoln of Portland, Ore., and Toronto's George Chuvalo.

The back-busting business always has boomed with an active and attractive heavyweight champion and, given opposition, Patterson will answer both requirements.

His rift with the International Boxing Club already has given the dodge a terrific shot in the arm. Heretofore, the IBC picked the challenger in every division. The others could stand in line and starve to death unless they got in line. If a fighter's manager didn't belong to the clique, he didn't get much work.

The first thing Manager D'Amato did was put Emil Lence back on his pins with the Patterson-Jackson rematch. The trust had put an end to Lence's successful activities at the Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn.

NOW FOR THE FIRST TIME the independent promoter is dickering directly with the heavyweight champion, and D'Amato is encouraging them all the way along the route. The champion can accept the top offer, which is the way it should be.

D'Amato, an old hand, wants more small chips, which are the source of talent supply. Prize fighting was close to strangulation with Octopus, Inc., interested only in itself and two nationally televised shows a week.

Roy Harris, the backwoods schoolteacher who promises considerable excitement, is a product of Texas clubs run by independent promoters. With the help the new deal promises them, there should be many more smug clubs around the country and a batch of badly needed new faces.

Floyd Patterson's break with the One Big and Now Unhappy Monopoly is the best thing that has happened to boxing since Jack Dempsey quit the hobo jungles.

BASKETBALL

Minneapolis, Minn. — George Mikan, all-time scoring king of pro basketball, was named coach of the Minneapolis Lakers of the NBA, replacing Johnny Kundla who was promoted to general manager.

TWO-WAY STRETCH—A lot of back-bending went into the picture as third baseman Don Hoak (foreground) and shortstop Roy McMillan (No. 11) tried to grab a grounder hit by Bobby Thomson of the Giants. It went for a hit, but the two Cincinnati infielders gave it a pennant-winning try.

Pirates Have Those "St. Louis Blues" After Double Loss

St. Louis (P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates had those St. Louis Blues today following a double defeat by the Cardinals.

Lack of hits—13 in two games told the story last night as the Pirates dropped both ends of a two-night double header to the Cardinals 5-2 and 5-1.

The losses dropped the Pirates to within eight percentage points of the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs who swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Pirates grabbed a quick 2-0 lead off Sad Sam Jones in the opener when they collected three of their seven total hits in the first inning.

Del Ennis tied the score for the Cardinals in the home half of the first with his ninth homer. He scored behind Stan Musial who ran his consecutive hitting streak to 18 games with a double.

Ronnie Kline, Pirate starter, and Jones hooked in a tight duel until the seventh when the Cardinals scored three runs on a single by Wally Moon, Hobie Landrith's double and Pinchhitter Joe Cunningham's homer.

Kline was charged with his 10th loss in 12 decisions. Jones' record is 4-2.

The Bucs never had a chance in the second game as the Cardinals compiled a 4-0 lead before Pittsburgh scored its only run on a single by Frank Thomas and a double by Bill Mazeroski.

Hitting Star Is Lost to The Bucs With Broken Nose

St. Louis (P)—Dee Fondy, the National League's No. 3 hitter and having his best season, is lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates for an indefinite period because of an eye injury suffered in pre-game practice last night.

The 32-year-old first baseman, obtained from the Chicago Cubs in a trade, had been sparking the Pirates drive for sixth place with a .353 batting average.

A thrown ball in pre-game practice before a two-night doubleheader with the St. Louis Cardinals broke his nose and caused a hemorrhage in his left eye.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, Cardinal team physician, said it will be 48 hours before it can be determined if there is any permanent injury to the eye.

He has only partial vision in it now.

Dr. Middleman said he is hopeful because Fondy's eye was struck a glancing blow after his nose was broken, taking much of the force of the throw.

Fondy was taken to Jewish Hospital after first aid treatment at Busch Stadium. Two physicians, an eye and a nose specialist, consulted with Middleman.

The injury was described as a hemorrhage of the anterior chamber.
